Hit Brewster, Klan in War on Gould

Augusta, Me., Nov. 26.—Governor Ralph O. Brewster, called "Judias and a hypocrite," accused of plotting with the Ku Klux Klan and of making "an unholy alliance with the Democratic party," today became the storm center of the political fracas in which an attempt is being made to prevent Arthur R. Gould from becoming Republican U. S. Senator from Maine.

Accusations against the Governor were made publicly at the hearing before Secretary of State Francis Pickens Gould in a denunciation of a complaint that alleges he exceeded allowable expenses in his campaign.

The charge that the Governor conspired with the State "grand dragons" and the national "imperial wizard" of the Ku Klux Klan was made by Frederick W. Blinckley, counsel for Gould, before a capacity throng in the House of Representatives chamber.

Brewster Attacked as Ku Klux Plotter

CHARGES HYPOCRISY

"While he was professing friendship for Mr. Gould he was plotting to overthrow him," charged the attorney.

"As late as last Wednesday he was in conference with the Republican candidate, assuring friendship and interest, but at the same time he was trying to get evidence to present here."

The filing of the complaint was purposely delayed so that the candidate could not have time to get a complete hearing before Monday's election, he said.

Attorney Gerry L. Brooks of Portland, representing the complainant, Rev. A. P. Leitch, who is a Methodist minister, attacked the specifications against Gould most of those being newspaper advertisements which in the aggregate it is charged, would cost more than the $1,000 limit.

Political action in State and nation are excited over the Gould affair. The national administration has repudiated the Republican candidate in the cancellation by Secretary Hoover of a speaking engagement for him in Portland. So has Governor Brewster repudiated him, while the Senate campaign funds in investigating committee funds to investigate later.

He declared that the Governor attempted to prejudice the case against Gould in a public letter and would be held in contempt of court if the hearing was an ordinary court proceeding.

He named Governor Brewster as the real instigator of the complaint against Gould, which ostensibly is brought by the Rev. A. P. Leitch, an active Klan worker.

hypocrite and a Jew," he called the State's Chief Executive.

It is charged he exceeded the legal campaign expense of $1,000. In a return filed at the State House he swore to expense of not more than $1,000.

"With Governor Brewster's own confessed two years ago some thousands of dollars were spent to secure his nomination as Governor, with the aid of the Ku Klux Klan," declared Hinkley.

DOG RISKS LIFE TO SAVE 5 N NEWTON FIRE

"Betty," an English bulldog owned by James J. Hill, Jr., of Ward street, Newton Centre, is the heroine of the fashionable Newton fire today.

She saved five lives today and nearly lost her own when fire, believed to have started from an oil burner, filled the house with smoke and threatened lives of sleeping inmates.

Mrs. Hill was awakened by the dog barking at the foot of the stairs. The room was filled with smoke and the fire was eating rapidly through the floor from the cellar. Mrs. Hill rushed to the street with her daughter, four, while her husband, awakened Colonel F. P. Wins, U. S. Army Base, and his wife.

When firemen arrived all the inmates were out but "Betty" was not among those present.

Captain Michael Turner, Ladderman J. P. O'Connor of Ladder 3, and Patrolman Howard Carley found her unconscious in the bedroom. A generous sniff of smelling salts brought "Betty" back to consciousness.

MARY ELLIN IS CHEERING THE BERLINS

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Irving Berlin, the king of tinny melody, and his wife, the former Ellen Mackay, of the fashionable world, are the parents of a seven-pound, blue-eyed daughter. She has been named Mary Ellen Berlin.

The baby was born in York House, a private sanitarium just east of Fifth avenue on 72nd street, while Berlin neglected his Thanksgiving dinner to pace the hospital corridors.

Franklin P. Adams, known to newspaper readers of his humorous column as "F. P. A.," who paced the corridors on his own account a week ago when a son arrived, was with Berlin.

Mrs. Berlin's father, Clarence Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Company, who was reported to have disapproved the daughter because of the marriage, was duck hunting on Gardner's Island, in Long Island Sound at the time. Her mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, was one of the first to arrive at the hospital to congratulate Mrs. Berlin, however.

Mrs. Blake expressed great pleasure at a becoming grandmother on Thanksgiving Day.

The report that Mr. and Mrs. Berlin had gone through a Roman Catholic marriage ceremony a few hours before the birth of their daughter was denied emphatically today. The mother of the bride said she didn't believe such an event was possible.

AMERICAN K. C. IS ATTACKED IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Nov. 26 (I.N.H.)—Passage of the new bill for the amendment of the constitution for the regulation of labor, was made the vehicle for belligerent attacks against Catholics and Americans in the Chamber of Deputies today.

The religious controversy was brought up and the Mexican Catholic clergy and the American Knights of Columbus were roundly denounced.

Antonio Diaz Soto y Gama, Agrarian leader charged that as the result of the controversy over oil and land laws, the United States is preparing a financial blockade of Mexico to become effective January 1 when the new oil and land laws go into effect.

DEB FOR MEXICO.

In a dramatic conclusion Soto y Gama called upon the deputies to give and signify their willingness to die for their country, and there was a general response.

What purports to be a photographic copy of a circular appeal by the Knights of Columbus for a million-dollar fund to aid Mexican Catholics, in a fight against the "Bolshevik government," was published in Mexico City newspapers today, at the request of the Chamber of Deputies.

The original copy is said to be held in the archives of the chamber and the photographic copies bear this letterhead:

"Knights of Columbus, Loyola Council No. 47, 612 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn-Mexican Relief Fund Committee, John A. Reagan, chairman. Seek to Bar Doheny Loan Testimony

attorney is not evidence, and if the prosecution has any means of proving the payment was made except on the basis of the Senate committee record, the government attorneys have not disclosed it.

While the arguments continue, the jury is excluded from the court room by mutual agreement.

Owen J. Roberts, for the prosecution, told the court that Doheny had made his statement before the Senate committee voluntarily, and that he ought to go before the jury. The defense attorneys replied that to produce the Senate testimony in court would violate the legal immunities of their clients.

Roberts argued the record of the Senate hearing would not constitute "testimony" by a defendant against himself in violation of the fifth amendment of the Constitution. That amendment, he said, merely protected defendants against compulsory testimony against themselves.

Roberts cited a Supreme Court decision that even a subpoena from a Federal tribunal did not itself constitute evidence of compulsion if the witness neglected to claim his privilege to refuse to testify against himself.

Frank J. Hogan read from the printed record of the Senate hearings in which Doheny's testimony touching the $100,000 transaction was described as "Mr. Doheny's testimony resumed." The oil man had appeared once before, that time under subpoena.

Hogan then argued that the two established the continuity of the Doheny testimony, and that the word "resumed" demonstrated beyond doubt that the testimony at the second appearance was under conditions identical to those at the first. This, he argued, constituted compulsory testimony.

The question at issue never had been treated in judicial decision, declared Hogan, and since the legal rules of evidence do not govern procedure before congressional committees incorporation of such testimony

GALE WITH RAIN DUE IN HUB

Rain with a gale blizzard and a few warm hours with a mercurial dive behind them is the weather man's promise for Boston. Out of the West will come a 50-mile gale and warm rain tonight. When the warm rain comes on its way the thermometer is scheduled to tumble.

In Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, today the natives are reading 53 degrees below zero. In Winnipeg the reading is 13 below and the west winds are bringing that straight to Boston, according to the weather man. The rain and gale are at present cowering around Chicago and will reach here tonight.

The forecast: Cloudy with rain tonight, probably Saturday. Warmest tonight much colder Saturday afternoon and night southerly winds, reaching gale force tonight shifting to westerly Saturday morning.

63 ARE KILLED BY TORNADO

Two persons, mother and son, were killed near Newport, Ore. Property damage, estimated at more than a million dollars, was extensive over a wide area, from Frederick, Okla. in the southwest portion of the State, to Rollo, Mo. the storm skipped along and struck here and there, wrecker cut whole villages and destroying lives and property.

In some places fire added to the horror of the tornado. Wrecked houses burst into flames as the wind storm passed on.

Seven persons were killed near Mer Rouge, La. The victims included a farmer and his wife, and all of their thirteen children were injured two dying later.

Five others were dead at Haynesville, La. Many persons were injured in the area as well as other Louisiana storm centers.

Big Pine, a small island town twenty miles southeast of Crocker, Mo., was virtually wiped out. A hotel building was reported the only building left standing.

An unidentified man was killed in Keweenaw, fifteen miles north-east of Rollo. Several persons were injured at other buildings were destroyed.

2 SAILED; SHIP IS BURNED

Looking and they were making frantic signals. They said the schooner had cleared from Mosank, Mo., for the Fifth Market.

Captain B. W. Brewer had his vessel as close to the beach as he dared on the chance others of her crew might have been trapped aboard. In less than an hour the bulk settled in the water while the flames were shooting from the stern and rigging. The sank and the Cumberland was put back on her course.

Shortly after the Cumberland's arrival an investigation was ordered. Word was received from Providence that Captain George W. McHenry, commanding the Blackstone Valley Transportation Company's freighter Pawucket, had arrived there today with a story that the two rescued men had refused aid when his vessel stood by.

Buildings Wrecked

The storm demolished several buildings and homes in Brandenburg and caused considerable damage to the citizens in their hurry to find shelter.

Many persons were seeing tanks giving day dinner when the tornado struck.

Telephone and telegraph wires were crippled, making communication with the stricken areas difficult. Most of the reports concerning damage of the storm came over railroad wires.

The home of Jack Stafford at Opelousa was blown away while a party was in progress, and his wife, his wife and daughter and two other persons were killed and seven others hurt. Five other houses were blown away.

A second terrific windstorm at Hobbs Springs delayed recovery of bodies, but at least nineteen have been found there, according to a report by wire. The message said more were being found.

The storm descended into Louisiana during the night and the camp of the Revere Petroleum Company, three miles north of Haynesville, was struck. Twelve persons there were injured, with others reported missing.

JOAN TELLS OF CHRISTMAS NOVELTIES

By JOAN STUART.

"After the brawl was over," is just about the motto that goes with the "day after" Thanksgiving. "All your Christmas shopping done, Joan?" some woman asked me. "No," I answered, "the lot's all done, but I've nearly finished doing everyone's else. Were you thinking of making a bid for my services?"

"Indeed, no! I wanted to ask you to lunch and I thought we might drift through the stores in the afternoon."

"Oh, I'll be delighted to go shopping with you. Buy your Christmas presents early is my slogan," I rambled on enthusiastically.

"I really don't want to do much. Just a few little things for some friends."

"Women friends?" I asked.

"Yes," her answer was unhesitating.

"I saw some attractive initial pins made of the black rhinestones with the letter cut out. They are very smart and extremely acceptable."

I told her.

"Oh, but they're too expensive," she protested.

"I don't know what you consider expensive, but these were $2.50 for the smaller size and $3.75 for the larger size."

"Oh, that sounds wonderful," she began to rave. "You don't know where I could get some little trifles about fifty or seventy-five cents?"

"Joan knows everything there is to know about why, how and where to do your Christmas shopping early," I husband assured her.

I modestly admitted it and told her how to get some adorable knockers that were just perfect to hang on to door of the guest room or even the children's room. They were cunning little cockatoos in rose, pink or blue, sitting on a branch and the swinging of the branch provided the knock.

So I'm tied with one more shopper's gift list.

Saves Grandma

BUT GRANDPA DIES

Mary Radona, 6, who found her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Inzenge, of
No. 216 Santiago street,
East Boston, unconscious from gas poisoning. She ran for aid and her grandmother was saved, but of-forts to revive the aged man were unavailing. His death was pronounced accidental.

'SQUEALED' TO SAVE SELVES
IN RUM CASE

Testifying as the last government witness in the trial of John H. Mc-Enroe, coast guard officer, before a court-martial board at the navy yard today, Stanley Russell, who served under McEnroe, admitted that he had agreed a statement for investigators in Providence at the request of Charles (Happy) Wilson, notorious under-cover man.

Russell admitted that Wilson told him his companions on the 151 had agreed to save themselves, and advised him to do the same. He then went to a hotel, where Arnold and Russo, chief investigators were staying and signed the statement they offered him. He testified today that he had seen the master of a rum schmoozer board the 151 with a case of whiskey for the crew.

The first defense witness was Philip J. Waldron, a boat's commanding the 151. He contradicted testimony by government witnesses who said his boat had surprised them in the act of warning away speed boats from a schooner on rum eve.
He testified there were two speed boats near the schooner when the 151 met the 151.

Thomas J. Comerford, who served under McEnroe on the 151 for a long time, testified that he had never seen a case of whiskey come aboard the coast guard boat while he was on
it. He said he never saw liquor loaded on speed boats from rum schmoozers and said he had never received any bribe money from his commanding officer.

Agreeing with previous witnesses,
he testified the mysterious Wilson was known as a crook and a reservoir instead of chief investigator for the government.

OREGON GOVERNOR CALLS PROHIBITION A FAILURE

Salem, Ore., Nov. 18 (A.P.)— Constitutional prohibition is a failure, says Governor Walter M.
Pierce, long known as an ardent dry leader, in an interview in the Capital Journal today.

The Oregon executive asserts that no man who follows the dictates of his conscience and more what he honestly believes regarding the conduct of public office can be successful. He declared prohibition the resulta expected of it.

guilty of passing worthless checks at various times since 1922.

Fingerprint on Hall Card Not Forged, Says Charlotte

By CHARLOTTE MILLS

Scarsville, N. H., Nov. 25.

Fingerprints and more fingerprints

Heaven only knows what the outcome of all this confusing business will be, but Senator Simpson is certainly ripping into the defense

people.

To me it is ridiculous for the defense to contend that the print on Dr. Hall's card may be a forgery. Why then have

Dr. Hall and why? The State is not trying to convict innocent

people.

I hope all this argument will soon be over and then will come another climax of the trial.

Mr. Hall, today the courtroom is jammed with people who want to hear testimony and to see her on the stand.

I want to see how she answers some of the revealing questions Senator Simpson will ask her.

Following papers from the house of an automobile. A—Yes, I

Q—On Sunday, Sept. 17, 1922

that were your movements? A—

Mr. Carpenter and I had breakfast

as usual, at home at a quarter to nine. After breakfast, about 9:30

we got into the car and drove to Burning Lake. We returned the late afternoon. My wife was with all the while.

Q—Were you at Mrs. Hall's home that day? A—No, sir.

Q—Did you take any bundles, or papers from Mrs. Hall's house that day? A—No, sir.

Q—Did you see Mrs. Beaman?

A—No, sir.

Q—Did you have a brother in

New Brunswick that day? A—

Yes, William Carpenter. That is the only brother that was in New Brunswick that time.

Q—When you went to Spring

Lake was it warm? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Do you remember a reporter coming into your home and asking you about black smoke pouring from your chimney? A—No, sir.

Q—1st, yes, in December, January, February, or March, was a reporter by the name of Dickman in Prosecutor Beaman's office and have conversation about a check?

A—I never met Dickman in Beekman's office in my life.

Q—That's all.

A—That's all.

Q—Without any question whatever? A—I have found none.

Q—Was it the expert who secured a conviction from a fingerprint on a box? A—Yes, the box came in from the Atlantic station.

A letter, addressed to the box arrived. It took two months.

Q—How about the fingerprint after two months? A—Yes, we developed it after the length of time.

Q—How about a print on a card?

A—Yes, I have been able to get one after two or three days.

Q—How about a print on a card?

A—Yes, I have been able to get there a graphic and a charcoal print after it was developed? A—To give you an latest answer, not unlike had it analyzed by a chemist.

Q—Did you get in touch with Mr.

Gerhardt Kuhn, list of the deference experts, was best recalled

the case as largely settled by Simpson

Q—Did you get in touch with Mr.

the case? A—No, sir.

HALL WIDOW'S SLEUTH DARES ARREST BY COMING TO COURT

see you after the murder? A—He did.

Q—What did he say? The question was ruled out.

Sheriff admitted that he had written to Mrs. Hall about his story.

Q—Did you try to get money from Mrs. Hall? The question was ruled out.

The letters were produced by the defense and Sheriff identified them as having been written by his wife for him.

One of these letters read: "Mrs. Stevens Hall, 'I thought I would drop you a line in reference to the Grand Jury investigation on your case. As you know I am a business man and in a business which requires my personal presence at all times."

"I appear, as you know, the time I took up from the beginning to the day I was practically an entire week in the care of a woman in my place, and an entire man in the care of a woman, as I just received a consignment of fresh suit and could not find time for the whole time."

"Leaves It to Her."

"Some of my trade now simply ignores me entirely and will not do business with me."

"I hope it will be shown some day that Mrs. Jane Gilson was not telling the truth. Now I would have done exactly the same had it been a woman who was compelled to go out to work every day for a living. I believe it is a case where it should be proved with absolute facts and nothing else."

"Therefore I was perfectly satisfied after Mrs. Gilson offered me $100 and agreed to let me in on whatever may come after that she had been successful in settling some of her other corroborating witnesses to the same matter and everything it should be made known."

"Now, Mrs. Hall, I leave this entirely to your judgment. Now a woman in your financial straits must admit the benefit you derived through my evidence, and no doubt the case has cost you a considerable amount, which helped very little."

"I believe, understand, as I stated above, and leave it to your judgment whether you don't think I ought to be at least be reimbursed for the loss I suffered during my presence and very plainly does you a great deal of good."

"I could do the same as several cases on the State's side; held out my hand, but I do not believe in same. As a Christian and the father of three children, I want whatever I get in a decent, fair way."

Q—Have you Mr. Gilson, at any time received any money or anything of value from Mrs. Hall or any promise of such? A—No, sir.

Q—Who was the prominent business man you saw in Eastern avenue the night of the murder? A—I don't know.

Q—Did you write these letters to Mrs. Hall to exact money from her? A—No, sir. Do they sound that way?

Does Any Threats

Q—They seem that way to me. What did you mean by threatening Mrs. Hall to exact money from her? A—No, sir. Do they sound that way?

Q—You said that you were a detective who had been employed by Mr. Martin to help in the investigation for Mrs. Hall, had previously testified for the state that Mr. Martin had told him to go to "hailroom, sugar grove and other places" in New Brunswick, where people conspired to get the pants and write down the re-explained to him. A—No, I never did.

Q—Did you ever say to Mrs. Donahue, "You're hurting your cousin by saying what you do?" A—I never saw the woman.

Q—Did you say to her "You didn't see Henry Stevens in New Brunswick?" A—No, sir.

Q—Did you say to her that you knew she had a mortgage on her house for $3,500 and that you would give her that and a little more if she would keep her mouth shut?

A—No, sir.

Felix Summers, a detective who had been employed by Mr. Martin to help in the investigation for Mrs. Hall, had previously testified for the state that Mr. Martin had told him to go to "hailroom, sugar grove and other places" in New Brunswick, where people conspired to get the pants and write down the re-

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON ACTIVITIES OF SOCIETY

Miss Mathilde Manly, a Real "Baltimore Belle," Outstanding Figure at Wedding of Her Brother in Emmanuel Church

MADE FROM the bride herself, quite the most outstanding feminine figure in the Hawkins family, Miss Mathilde Manly, one glimpse of this radiant creature gives every confirmation necessary to tales of her beauty in Baltimore. And of course she is paying court. She is delightfully slender and ravishingly pretty. She wears her translucent, smart clothes with distinction. For the wedding she was a symposium in gray cloth and tulle, and from the tips of buckled shoes to the topmost fold of her small gray hat. It was altogether a notable family group that came up from Baltimore for the occasion. Mr. Frank Keyser, uncle of the bridegroom, was one to come.

MRS. WILLIAM MANLY (Mathilde Keyser), the very handsome mother of the good-looking young bridegroom, William Keyser Manly, had an honored place at the ceremonial in the exquisite Lady Chapel. She wore black velvet with point d'esclat bands and rich auburn. Mrs. Louis Tracy Hawkins, mother of the bride, was in smart velvet with stole of mink. The new Mrs. Manly was as sweet a bride as ever wore the tulle and crystal outfit of tradition. Tulle made the caprice headpiece and layed out as a misty veil over the slender court train. Tulle was shirred to line the train and held her and there with an orange blossom. It was bridal array the very essence of simplicity, and therefore very charming.

SMART youths have been improved into pleasant service as ushers. Some of them are kinemen of the debutante. One such is Nathaniel Hamlin, another is a Ladbroke Devon. Altogether there are sixteen ushers, and the list in Boardman was Elizabeth Devens) are interested in her debut, and will see to it that every moment of the first Winter is filled.

NEXT IN THE list of large balls with a society backing and a philanthropic cause is the Army and Navy Ball in the Copple-Plaza ballroom on December 2. To use the Army barracks, "brass hats" galore are sponsoring the affair, and there is the usual diversion of splendid military bands and competitive affairs between Service branches.

MAJOR-GENERAL PRESTON BROWN, U. S. A., and Rear Admiral Philip R. Andrews, N. S. N., are leading high rankers giving their patronage. There are Major General Samuel Sumner, U. S. A., the Hon. Curtis D. Willcox, Mayor Nicholas Fennell's support of the affair is most impressive. Mrs. Ronald T. Brown heads the sponsor list. She will be one of the receiving line from tea to supper in the evening. Others are Mrs. Philip Andrews and Mrs. Preston Brown, Mrs. Malvern Hill Barnes, Mrs. Edwin S. Weaver, Mrs. Walter Merriam Pratt and Mrs. O. H. Smith.

FROM 9 to 10 O'CLOCK Mesdames Robert Livermore, Nathaniel F. Ayer, Norman W. Cabot and Charles F. Grosvenor, 2d, do the honors. Mrs. Grosvenor, as always, is working heart and soul for the ball, which benefits a pet cause of hers, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club in Fayette street.

THE GREENHOUSES, by the way, are soon off to California. The young Grosvenors attend school there and Mrs. Grosvenor's spouse is gone, so for a part of the Winter, at least, Mrs. Grosvenor will look to the suburban sunbaths of the Golden State, before returning to what New England offers in the way of climate.

Boom Sale of Xmas Seals on Common

THIS sale of Christmas seals was opened by Bill Barrett of Montpelier, Vt., founder of the Keep Well Club, at a mass meeting for children held on Boston Common. Bill's riddle summoned children from far and near and he led them in singing the songs of the club and played for impromptu Charleston contests.

Bill states that he had gained 4,000 new members for his health club during his Boston visit, which opened last Saturday. He has addressed thousands of Boston school children, telling them the story of his fight against tuberculosis on a Vermont mountain top.

Summer Memories

A shore dinner you must know sometime

SPRUCEWOOD LODGE, overlooking Boothbay Harbor, is the largest log cabin hotel in the world. Every outlook is over green forests. The sea, with its many islands and bays and coves, appears in nearly every direction.

The dining room here seats 400 people. It is furnished in rustic hickory. Under the trusses are old ships' knees, salvaged from wrecked ships. The electric bulbs are suspended from the spokes of old ships' wheels. Moose heads are over the fireplace. Mounted wild animals decorate the walls. The candlesticks on the tables are in the form of pine cones. Mr. Parker Nickerson owns this unique hotel.

Thousands of people come here in summer to enjoy a far-famed shore dinner prepared under Martin James. It is as matchless as the sunsets from this high observation point. Visitors never forget the lobster and clam dishes, the doughnuts and the coffee.

The coffee is La Touraine—the coffee now served in the finest of New York tea rooms. No other blend is worthy to end such a dinner.

You can serve that same coffee all the year around in your home. It will bring to your table supreme delights. Then you will know that nowhere in America—whether the other enticements—is there coffee better than yours.

Interesting facts about
La Touraine (Extra)
Coffee

It is the largest coffee in New England. It is the best of coffee in America. In this home of selected coffee coffee, it is the best of the best.

It is the coffee served in many dining places famous for their coffee. In all States from Maine to Texas, it is the coffee of the coffee.

The blend combines the four finest coffees that grow. Each comes from a different country, each is the pride of a nation. Each serves the excellent flavor from one of the finest soils of the earth.

Three of the four combined in this blend come from the coffee of Brazil. One is so rare that only 200 bags are grown yearly.

The formula for this blend is a secret, carefully preserved. It is the coffee that has been made in recent years. Those who find their ideal flavor can find it nowhere else.

Mr. E. J. Butler, the noted coffee expert, personally tests, roasts and selects all coffees used in this blend. His care is to insure without regard to cost, the greatest coffee flavor. His price is the lowest possible.

La Touraine (Extra) is sold direct to retail grocers. It is in every coffee store in the land. There are no middlemen. There are no extra charges. There are no extra charges. There are no extra charges.

The President will want to know why he was fooled about our flying force, and thus deceived into a speech that might have fooled the American people.

ADD ONE thing to be thankful for:

That was probably not very near, and that this richest and most bitterly hated nation on earth has not yet been made to pay dearly for the pitiful incompetency and ignorant self-deception of those responsible for the national security.

SENIATOR OSCAR UNDERWOOD, formerly candidate for the Democratic nomination, says Governor Smith of New York is the logical choice for 1928 to beat the Republicans.

He wants it, or Hoover, if Coolidge does not want it.

Senator Underwood says Ku Klux hostility to Governor Smith on account of his religion, would become an asset for Smith by election time.

SENIATOR UNDERWOOD, returning from the Senate, and from politics, says Governor Smith's Catholicism would not hurt him.

He says that the party would be brought to give the nomination to the New Yorker.

THAT 1928 Democratic nomination will be a complicated proposition, with Ku Klux, prohibition, religion and many questions to increase the complication.

The Republicans have a simple prospect. If he is not tired of the job, and if he looks rosy, President Coolidge can have the nomination for HIS SECOND ELECTION, no one objecting.

If Coolidge does not want it, it will go to Secretary Hoover, whose program will read something like: "Do the things that the country needs, without waiting for them to do themselves."

IT IS REPORTED from Rome that Marconi requests annulment of his marriage to the Hon. Mrs. Marconi, the daughter of the Baron Ischia. The Catholic Court of Westminster has granted the annulment, that must now be approved by the Pope, the first Catholic Church authority in Rome.

THE REASON for this annulment was said to be an agreement, made by Marconi and his wife, that they would separate whenever they wanted to after marriage, such an agreement "violating the fundamental principles of the Catholic Church, which holds marriage indissoluble."

Such an agreement makes the marriage null, non-existent from the start, like fraud is a contract.

THE LATEST concerning the Vanderbilts' marriage annulment reports that the Vanderbilts, only seven years old at the time of her marriage, was secretly engaged to one Eberhard, and then to Duke, locked in her room and all she did not marry Married, but was murdered.

IT IS AN interesting story, and the public will wonder what the Vanderbilts were doing at that time. He was a son of a famous father, gave out two and a half million dollars to his daughter's dual husband, to fix things up. He loved his children and would not have allowed any coercion of his daughter. Perhaps she was afraid to speak to him.

It is, all in all, a story as romantic as you would want to read.

THE HALL-MILLS murder mystery grows more and more mysterious. Fingerprints were found and experts testified that they were made by one of the two men. Other experts testified they were not. Jurors can't read fingerprints.

WITNESSES SWARE they saw the accused in that crowded lane. Others supply alibi. It is quite safe to predict, no mystery will not be solved by any court decision.

Meanwhile, one intelligent writer suggests that the Rev. Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were probably trapped to death in the "Lovers' Lane" that night, not murdered at all.

AT A SALE in London, two portraits by Gainsborough brought $250,000 each. A portrait by Romney, who made such pictures of Nelson's friend, Lord Hamilton, also brought $250,000. A picture by Sir Thomas Lawrence was bought by Daven for $250,000.

These unheard of prices are

WEATHER SMILED ON 1926 FOOTBALL

THE football year that comes to an end tomorrow has been remarkable in many ways, but the outstanding thing about it in this part of the world has been the glorious weather that has greeted all the large games. There hasn't been a mean

Saturday in the East. Conditions here, there and everywhere have been just about perfect, for both players and fans, and if the luck holds over one more day, the football orator will have something to chirp about to the next generation. The grid game has a wonderful kick on a brisk Fall afternoon—the wine of the air and all that sort of thing. But a game when the elements are sour is something else again. The sort of rain that best down on the Stadium while Yale was playing three years ago took all the fun out of the afternoon, even for the Eli rooters, who were having their first chance to yell for several campaigns. The same thing will true down in the Bowl in '26. The teams couldn't play their game, and the spectators were decidedly unlucky to be holding tickets and figuring they had to use them.

Several Boston College-Holy Cross wars have been slowed up by rain and slush and sloppy going. But such succeeding Saturday of '26 has brought along the ideal northern Atlantic Fall brand of weather, than which there is none so whither.

Boston College and Holy Cross play tomorrow before the biggest crowd that has ever stormed the Harvard for a football stadium. The elements are kind, it may develop into a brilliant finale. For Holy Cross, with its regular back in the game, isn't to sneeze at.

TEAT COLLEGE HAMMER KNOCKED OUT A FEW SPARKS OFF THE IRON ELEPHANT.

Notre Dame, Notre, Indiana, Alabama and Lafayette only waited from left, and three of them may get it yet.

A COUPLE of the Thanksgiving results bring out the point of our previous remarks about the value of a kick in a football game. Both of them, with two wins and one tie in major games by no credit because somewhere adjacent to the head, even as his name signifies.

EAGLES NEED STADIUM TO SHOW WELL

BOSTON COLLEGE and Holy Cross will sell out the big Brave game tomorrow. Some 35,000 tickets will mean a gross gate of $100,000. That is something for the owners of a Boston College Stadium to think about. Two or three games like that per annum would pay the freight on any kind of a plant that could be erected in a very few years.

The Eagles have great teams, but they lack the proper setting. There isn't the kick to a football game in a ball park that there is in a post in a stadium that is built for football and that alone. Harvard, with a minor game and a home team, will suffer Boston College with a champion outfit in a big game, while the Crimson has its horse and the Eagles are on the B. arch.

DON DEB thinks that the Mexican border pays rent. She couldn't find the end zone in her geography, either.

The coming of winter is not so bad, it brings the wait of the next good.

A good point out is a knock in ball and a third indeed, Don DeB for Sale to the Standard Life, Constitution Life.

Grange Predicts Big Success for Pro Grid Game in Future

By HAROLD ("RED") GRANGE.
Copyright, 1935, by National Service.
New York, Nov. 25.—There is not the slightest doubt in my mind as to the future of professional football. When efforts were first made, a few years back, to organize a league of professional teams few believed that there would ever be any interest in football as played by college elevens. That idea has been dispelled by the gatherings at the pro games of last season and this, and the game is growing in popularity all the time.

Brown's Clean Slate Cracked as Colgate Ties Iron Eleven

By BIRNEY P. LYNCH
Brown's hardy fighting Iron Eleven today had passed into the shadows of history and the courageous disciples of Tim McLaughlin are finally welded into the great fraternity of Eastern elevens who either have been beaten or tied.

But most of the experts today would have been surprised to see the Brown team, which had been so successful in the past, being defeated by Colgate. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams showing great skill and determination. The final score was a 10-10 tie, a result that was unexpected by many.

Left Over Rules for Using Up Turkey

By MARTHA LEE

THE day after the dinner before I think we all feel as if we never wanted to look at turkey in the face again. The wise housewife, however, wraps a damp cloth around the battered remains of the bird and puts him in the far northeastern corner of the refrigerator and forgets him until about Sunday forenoon.

By that time it's surprising what a delicious turkey appetite can be created, especially if the leftovers are attractively rearranged. There are many possible variations of the cold sliced and usually dry turkey. TIPPLEY CAFE—Mix together 1 cup chopped, cold, cooked turkey, 1 cup cream, 1 slightly beaten egg, 1/2 tsp. salt and a speck of pepper. Beat eggs well in bread crumbs, dip in butter until pretty browned on both sides. Serve on a hot plate surrounded with a rich white sauce which just before serving you have added one-third cup of cream and 1/2 cup of turkey.

SCALLOPED TURKEY—Made with a foundation of a white sauce of 2 cups of butter, 2 cups of flour, 1/2 tsp. of salt and 1 cup of turkey stock made from boiling one bone and skin. Cut the turkey in small pieces. You will need about 1 1/2 cups. Butter a baking dish and sprinkle with a layer of seasoned cracker crumbs. Then a layer of turkey meat, then another layer of the sauce. Sprinkle with cracker crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown.

MINCED TURKEY—Cut the turkey in small dice and add 1 cup of meat, one-third cup of soft, salted butter, 1/2 cup of white sauce with 2 tbsp. of butter, 1/2 cup of flour and 1 cup of stock. Season with salt, pepper and onion. Stir the turkey and bread crumbs into this sauce and heat thoroughly.

Assembled new turkey treat in the bird, served in cream. Cut the head and some of the second skin into several round-shaped pieces. Butter a glass casserole and arrange a layer of cold turkey dressing on it. Lay the turkey and bread crumbs on top of the yellow sauce and bake for twelve minutes.

Add one and one-half cups of cold milk and cook slowly until thick and smooth. Beat three eggs and add to the milk mixture with one teaspoon of salt. Pour this yellow sauce over the bird. Peel, cut up and fry until tender one pound of mushrooms.

Add to them one-quarter cup of bread crumbs, two tablespoons of butter and one teaspoon of salt. Cook this on top of the yellow sauce and blanket the turkey and bake for twelve minutes.

CRUDE TURKEY has an original flavor, too. The secret is in the sauce which is made in this way: Use one medium white onion and two green peppers very fine. Cook in a heavy spider with one tablespoon of butter until tender and browned. Add five cups of concentrated tomato soup and one tablespoon of flour. Season with a teaspoon each of sugar and salt. When this is all blended add one small sliced onion, one medium and one-half teaspoon of chopped parsley.

Since the turkey is attractive as possible, arrange the slices on a flat baking dish. Pour over a little melted butter and hot water and let it thoroughly brown. Serve with the Crude Sauce garnishing the plate with celery leaves and strips of pimiento.

TURKEY COUNTRY—Trim off all the meat left from the turkey, leaving in a little skin as possible. Put the bones and skin in a soupçon, add one carrot cut in quarters, two unseasoned potatoes, and twelve small onions. Add two quarts of water what was left of the stuffing and gravy, and cook well covered for about an hour. Strain the broth off leaving the vegetables. Thicken the broth with two tablespoons of flour and two tablespoons of butter rubbed together. When the thickened broth comes to a boil, add the onions, the turkey, and the potatoes cut in small pieces. Season with one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one-half teaspoon of celery salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, and a speck of cayenne, and pour into a deep dish. Add one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and celery and serve. This is a very nice use of the turkey and will make a luncheon or supper dish.

I'd have some other suggestions for using up left over turkey. I'd have some other suggestions for using up left over turkey. I'd have some other suggestions for using up left over turkey.

Faithfully yours,
Martha Lee

About Some Mental Disorders

By CHAS. A. L. REED, M.D.
Former President of the American Medical Association

THE term "mental disease" is here used out of respect to the patient. There is no such thing as a mind separate and apart from the body, as the mind is in reality but the subjective function of the whole body. It follows that there can be no such thing as a disease of the mind separate and apart from disease of the body.

There are, however, many diseases of the body in which the chief symptoms are disturbances of the daily function we call mind, with corresponding disturbances of human behavior.

These diseases may vary from mere eccentricity up to deviations that are in conflict with the peace and order of society. When they reach the latter point the deviations are called insanities, the individual is declared insane and is generally incarcerated in an institution provided by the State.

This is an enormous burden, the number of insane thus supported being something like 1 in every 100 of the population of both the United States and Great Britain.

A probably much heavier burden comes straight line and gently flowing curve combination, modified in each specimen by one single ornamental motif, such as the scroll bark of the Chippendale chair or the striped covering of the big chair.

The same characteristics are reproduced in the window treatment, tying the furniture to the background; straight curtains, long chintz overdraperies simply tied back and to finish off the top, a cornice which is cut in a Colonial design.

The wall paper, in blocked architectural design, emphasizes the desired atmosphere.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

OUT of the thousands of wealthy people in this country, over half of them are nouveau riche. One of our latest millionaires was so hard up last year that he took his dog to the poorhouse.

His ambition was to make enough money to send them there in a taxicab.

And when he accumulated his next million dollars he's going to have them come home for the week-end.

He has money to burn, but he's all covered by fire insurance.

He says he wishes he had insurance on his knees. He spends too much money in his dreams.

Every time he goes to sleep it costs him a couple of hundred bucks.

He has over $100,000 in greenbacks, but they're not doing him any good. When he dies he can't take them with him unless the government starts printing currency on asbestos.

Advice to Lovevorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

POLLY LOU, who writes me the following letter, discriminates sharply between kisses in fun and "real kisses." Sometimes she finds it is hard to draw the line.

"I have a great many friends in a certain town near here. These young people are continually having parties to which I am always invited. They do not dance because their parents object to it. I do not attend all of the parties, but I go to a great many.

"At these parties, at which their parents are always present, they play blotto and all the evening. Their parents do not object. Of course, I join in the game because I do not wish to be a wallflower.

"After reading your articles, I have been thinking about the matter. I cannot see that it does any harm to indulge in this sort of pastime as long as it is only in fun. I do not believe in letting every young man with whom I spend an evening, take a kiss for his pay. These kisses I consider should be kept for 'The Only Man'.

"As I'm going away soon, these young people are giving a party for me. I expect the usual games will be played and I expect to spend an enjoyable evening playing them. But I am afraid that one or three of the young men with whom I have had a kiss before I go. This I do not wish to give, as I do not want to throw away my kisses. But I do not know how to avoid it, as I do not want to hurt their feelings.

Please advise me regarding this matter. Your reply will also help other girls."

SINCE you approve of kissing in fun and all your friends know you indulge in such kisses, why don't you explain to the young man who asks to give you a goodnight kiss that you think too much of them to give them a mere peck or kiss in "fun," but not enough for a serious kiss. Tell them this plainly.

I think you will find it easier to say "No" to a young man who gives you a kiss straight in your own mind and at the same time tells you that he does not intend to indulge in kissing as a means of passing away the time.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creosolene, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosolene is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosols is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creosolene contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creosolene is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, whooping cough, influenza and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE--BY HELEN ROWLAND

THIS world is divided into two kinds of people—the great and the small.

There don't seem to be any "best" people—neither of medium weights mentally or spiritually, amongst them.

But you can't tell the great from the small by the size of their automobiles, or their places in Who's Who and the Social Register—or even by the way they handle their small fortunes.

Small people are eternally "defending" their dignity. Great people wear their dignity as lightly and unconsciously as they wear their hats and shoes. It is no more important to them than an old umbrella!

Small people are ruled by their hatreds and dislikes—great people are ruled by their loves and admirations.

Small people are governed by their prejudices—great people are led by their enthusiasms.

Small people feel, somehow, "bigger" when they find something to praise. Nothing gives them such secret delights as to boost your courage and fill you with self-confidence.

Small people shudder at the thought of being "odd" or different.

Great people shudder at the thought of being imitators.

Small people envy every success that man has; great people are content with their own.
